BLACK LIVES, INDIGENOUS LIVES: FROM MATTERING TO THRIVING

ONLINE
LECTURE

THURS,
FEB 18TH,
6PM PST

What can we learn from Black and Indigenous history, activism, and contemporary stewardship efforts in order to transform higher education, health, policing, and other Western institutions? This dialogue will examine and discuss major points of cultural and historic community convergence between Black and Indigenous Peoples with a focus on contemporary movements such as Black Lives Matter and Idle No More and the dismantling of racist statues, images, and mascots. Dr. Andrew Jolivétté will explore what these movements mean for enacting justice interventions and moving towards thrivance circuitry, kinship building, self-determination, and abolition as transformational modes of joy production and ceremonial stewardship. Co-sponsored by the Office of Equity, Diversity and Inclusion and Office of Equal Opportunity & Discrimination Prevention, and RCSGD.
