Harm reduction is an approach to drug use that focuses on kindness, compassion, and respect—emphasizing practical goals and the needs for physical and emotional safety. The tabling segment of this event will offer free dinner and the opportunity to learn about local organizations that advance community safety and wellbeing through education and resources. At the hybrid panel, we will discuss the merits and challenges of advocating for harm reduction and how the drug decriminalization movement more broadly intersects with the abolitionist imagination. Co-sponsored by EVPLA, EVPSA, Gauchos for Recovery and Public and Mental Health Coalition
