Staying on Mission

Race, Equity, and Justice in the Midst of Polarizing Politics

GLORIA LADSON-BILLINGS

Universities advertise themselves as places where the community can engage in the "marketplace of ideas." Recently, state legislatures are attempting to limit discussions around race, ethnicity, and gender. This talk explores the current critical race theory debate and how universities can clarify the misinformation and disinformation surrounding its meanings.

Gloria Ladson-Billings is the author of the critically acclaimed book, The Dreamkeepers: Successful Teachers of African American Children. She is the recipient of 9 honorary degrees from US and international universities. Her area of expertise is culturally relevant pedagogy and equity focused instruction.
