

THE UC SANTA BARBARA DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC,
THE CENTER FOR MIDDLE EAST STUDIES, AND THE MULTICULTURAL CENTER PRESENT

THE UCSB MIDDLE EAST ENSEMBLE IN CONCERT

Performing the Umm Kulthum song Aghadan Alqak

Umm Kulthum (c.1904-1975) is recognized as the most famous Arab singer of the 20th century. In 1971 she premiered the song Aghadan Alqak (Will I See You Tomorrow), composed for her by Muhammad 'Abd al-Wahhab, the 20th century's most famous Arab composer.

In celebration of the song's 50th anniversary, the UCSB Middle East Ensemble presents a free concert of the entire song, with a performance featuring Steven Thomson, solo vocalist. The UCSB Middle East Ensemble, founded in 1989, presents a wide variety of music and dance reflecting the great diversity of cultures found in the Middle East.

Wednesday November 10, 4 pm PST
UCSB MultiCultural Center Theater

For the reception following the event in the MCC Lounge, registration at UCSB Shoreline is REQUIRED by Nov. 3rd

Admission is FREE

MASKS REQUIRED

For more information or assistance in accommodating people of varying abilities, contact the MultiCultural Center at 805.893.8411

Umm
Kulthum

Steven
Thomson